JUSTICE AND RIGHT

VOLUME FIFTY TWO

GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, AUGUST 21, 1930

OSCAR P. SCHUMANN, Editor and Proprietor

NUMBER 35

Says WILL ROGERS

BEVERLY HILLS.—Well, all I know is just what I read in the papers. And outside of the thermometer reports, there just ain't much in the newspaper now days. This heat thing accompanied by drouth has had everybody pretty scared up. Course there is not much a man can do when it's hot, but it's better to have it than to have it. We can advise everybody to sit in the shade, and avoid the sun as much as possible. Then if it rains they need why advise them to raise crops that don't need much rain.

There has been a good deal of trouble out in the Dakotas about the history that Mr. Coolidge was supposed to write on a rock. It was to run 500 words and give the history of America and still not go into details. Well 500 words don't allow you much history. Course we never had much history, but like all Nations we think we have.

Well the Sculptor didn't like the history that our Ex President had cooked up so he made as we say in the eighth art (the Movies) why he made some mistakes on the manuscript. It seems that Mr. Coolidge had with an eye to future Campaigns given our history from a Republican standpoint. There had been Democrats engaged in our history but only in the capacity of Villains.

Well poor Dakota didn't know what it was all about, all the interest they had in the matter was to furnish the Mountain. They just wanted something that a Tourist could read, or have read to him. In fact the more controversy the more would come to read. What constituted our early history didn't mean a thing to my old friend Beulow and his cohorts. The Dakotas just said "we got the rock. Print an 'Almeo' McPherson sermon on it, just so somebody will burn out his brain hands to come and see it." If they leave the Coolidge version on there, they should advertise it, "Come and see the Republican history of America in 500 words."

See where one of these young boy tree sitters has just passed his 500 hours sitting in a treetop. There is a good deal of discussion as to what to do with a civilization that produces prodigies like that. Why wouldn't it be a good idea to take their ladder away from them and leave 'em up there?

Pretty near all of us out here in California during these hard times are selling our homes and they tear 'em down and put in these premature golf courses. You can't sell for much, but they give you a free ticket to play. The folks are putting 'em in now to get the prisoners' minds off mutiny.

Say, that little jacking up I gave Mr. Hoover about the weather did some good. You know these Republicans just get careless that way. They are so used to running everything for so long they just think it will go with out them.

China is having a new war, and we are having trouble getting into it. We always have gunboats there, so if there is any shooting why one of our boats will be shot at and that gives us the usual alibi.

But this time it seems we only had one gunboat and it had to manoeuvre around for days before it could get in the line of fire.

Now Mr. Hoover being a business man, I bet you he takes that Senate and House of Representatives space in the Capitol building and turns it into miniature golf courses.

Would you believe it, there is 3,500 of 'em in the city of Los Angeles. Then people ask what's the matter with this country. Nothing, only there is millions of 'em in their hand when they ought to have a shovel.

Half of America is bent over. In two more generations our children will grow upwards as far as the hips, then they will turn off at right angles and, with their arms hanging down, we will be right back where we started from.

Darwin was right.

I thought the California papers were exaggerating, as usual, the heat in the East, but I guess the rascals were right at that.

What has the poor farmer done against the Republican administration that he should deserve all this?

If it's not the heat, it's the deep snow.

If it's not the drought, it's the floods.

If it's not the boll weevil, it's the tariff.

If it's not the cinch bugs, it's the Federal Reserve.

If it's not relief he needs, why, it's rain.

But there is one pest that he is always free from; that's the income tax.

RECEPTION FOR "MISS GRAYLING"

TO APPEAR AT THEATRE, RECEPTION AND DANCE SAT.

Grayling will set aside Saturday evening to recognize and honor Miss Edith Bidvia, who was selected to represent Grayling at the Eastern Michigan Water Carnival at Bay City July 31 to Aug. 2, and who since that time has been very ably advertising Grayling in a tour with twenty other queens throughout the larger cities of Michigan on a Butterfield Theater circuit. She appeared from one to three times a day at one of these large theaters. Miss Bidvia had the honor of being the third choice of the judges for Miss Eastern Michigan and she had many special courtesies extended her while she was in Bay City.

At seven o'clock Saturday, August 23, at the Rialto Theatre Miss Grayling will again be presented to the local public. After the first show the public is invited to the Reception and Queen's Ball, given for Miss Bidvia and which is to be a very regal occasion. The ball will be held at the Officer's Club house at the Hanson State Military reservation. General Wilson and his staff will lend dignity to the affair by their presence. Music for dancing will be furnished by an especially arranged orchestra directed by Miss Kathryn Clark. The evening entertainment will continue at the club house until twelve o'clock.

1—President Hoover receiving a birthday present of a carved buffalo horn from representatives of the Boy Scouts of America. 2—Maj. Gen. Douglas MacArthur who has been selected to succeed Gen. Charles P. Summerall as chief of staff of the United States army in November. 3—Frank Hauke, World war veteran, who defeated Gov. Clyde M. Reed of Kansas for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

OUTLINES PLANS FOR SCHOOL YEAR

BE READY FOR OPENING OF SCHOOL

Inasmuch as the middle of August has passed it is high time that we begin to think and plan for the event following Labor Day—the re-opening of school.

The Grayling Public Schools will begin the 1930-31 session Tuesday, September 2nd. Needless to say this is an occasion of more than passing interest. Every man, woman, and child in the community is directly or indirectly effected. Our school is a most important institution; important to the taxpayer, the father, the mother, the boy and the girl.

What kind of a school is Grayling to have this year? Are the students and pupils going to have the opportunity to live and enjoy their ages naturally or are we still trying to educate them for the future, when we don't know what the future will demand ourselves? Thirty years ago there were but two automobiles in Detroit. If the function of the school had been to teach the children of 1900 how to live in 1930, there should have been courses in auto mechanic and traffic regulation. Of course that was impossible and is still impossible for us to teach our young the facts they will need 30 years from now. The school can give its greatest contribution by allowing its charges to be their age, live naturally, and help them to do the thing they want to do, better. They are all eager to live useful, happy lives; anxious to develop strong characters; healthy bodies, sane judgment, keen alertness, and the only way it can be done is by living now. A ten year old that is not given the opportunity to think as a ten year old and play as a ten year old will have something lacking when he is forty-five. All of us, both parents and teachers, have been ten year olds, surely it is not so long ago but what we realize that he has vital problems to solve.

Protect him but very largely let him work out his own solution.

One more question. Who is responsible for the success of our educational program? Some will answer the Board of Education. Correct. Others may say the School Superintendent. Again correct. A third group answer the teacher. Right. But after all the school is the entire community organized for the young. Every citizen has some function in the educative scheme. No one is exempt. Grayling may elect a Board of Education, it appoints a superintendent and he selects a faculty, but the entire community never can relieve itself of the responsibility. Education of youth is a cooperative affair, demanding real teamwork. Surely the project is worth the united effort of all. If everyone will take a cheerful, happy outlook, shout encouragement to students, teachers, members of the Board of Education, whisper constructive criticism, we may all have at least some satisfaction in the results achieved.

GOLF TOURNAMENT NOW UNDER WAY

NEWS OF INTEREST CONCERNING GRAYLING CLUB.

Interest in the Men's elimination contest has been very keen and grows more so as the games go on. Several upsets occurred Wednesday giving new hope to some and shattering that of others so that the final round will be as eagerly watched and as much a gamble as the first.

Partners in the match were chosen according to the scores handed in Sunday so that the starting players were as evenly matched as possible. Then after playing eighteen holes one or the other was defeated and the winner played a new opponent until there remains an undefeated man. Who will that be?

Results of the Men's Golf Tournament to date are:

Holger Hanson won from O. P. Schumann.

E. J. Olson won from Halford Kittleman by default (Mr. Kittleman was called to Chicago and could not play the match).

Roy Milnes won from Oscar Hanson.

Herbert W. Wolf won from Frank Tetu.

Marius Hanson won from Charles Webb.

A helpful hint to golfers: Take a firm, comfortable stance, look at your ball, take your club back slowly on the inside, then hit it, don't fuss about it.—Delmar L. Daly.

Chris Olsen is a new devotee to the game and is seen on the course daily practicing new shots. We've been wanting to see him join the crowd of us and are very pleased with his interest. Golf gets the best of us, doesn't it?

In spite of the drought the course is in very good shape.

We wish to thank Mr. Herbert S. Wolf for the donation of a cup, which is a miniature of the Men's Champion, ship cup and is to be presented to the winner of the Ladies Tournament.

The Ladies Tournament starts Wednesday, August 27. Please turn in your cards to Mr. Daly and get your handicap. Let's have a big entry for this and show lots of enthusiasm. Perhaps you can beat the men's enrollment. Your handicap will give you an even chance and Wednesday may be your good day.

Low medalists in the Men's tournament were E. J. Olson and Father Culligan. Each of the men shot a 91.

Mr. H. Wolf won the prize for the low score on No. 3 having two threes.

With the thermometer showing a decidedly lower temperature the number of golfers is considerably in-

REV. GREENWOOD ASKED TO RETURN

AFFAIRS OF CHURCH IN EXCELLENT CONDITION

A pot luck supper was given the church board at Michelson Memorial church Wednesday evening. This was the regular fourth quarterly conference meeting with the Dist. Supt. Dr. Glass in attendance.

Following the supper the business session was held. The board was delighted with the reports from the various departments of the church. The report of the Secretary and Treasurer showed the finances to be in a satisfactory condition, in spite of the general conditions throughout the country.

It will be pleasing to the Grayling public to know that at this time a call for the return of Mr. Greenwood as pastor of the church was extended by a unanimous vote of the board.

Mr. Greenwood has endeared himself more each year to not only his church people but to the community in general. His outstanding value as a citizen of this locality makes him and his family an asset of which we are proud and it is hoped that the general conference may find it convenient to grant the request of the church board in asking his return.

Whereas the young people who should be playing golf? At no time and at no place will they find a better opportunity for playing golf and they do not seem to be taking advantage of it. Those who rise with the sun to play the crowded city courses think they've found a paradise up here. Play while you're young. Come on out and beat your dad.

Patronize your pro. You help yourself, your pro and your club when you do.

Grayling plays West Branch at West Branch Sunday, August 27. Sign up with Mr. Daly if you intend going. We want every one to go. The bigger the crowd the better and you're sure of a good time.

Where are the young people who should be playing golf? At no time and at no place will they find a better opportunity for playing golf and they do not seem to be taking advantage of it. Those who rise with the sun to play the crowded city courses think they've found a paradise up here. Play while you're young. Come on out and beat your dad.

Ladies Luncheon Wednesday

One of the most enjoyable pot luck luncheons of the season was held at the Golf club by the Ladies Auxiliary Wednesday afternoon. Thirty-five members and guests sat down to a sumptuous meal. At the business meeting a letter was read from Herbert S. Wolf in which he presented the ladies with a beautiful silver cup to be used as a trophy for the tournament in which the ladies will contest soon.

Guests of the club were Miss Blanche Goodale of Lapeer, Mrs. Spencer Meistrup of Detroit, Mrs. John W. Hutchinson, and Mrs. Lorne Douglas, Saginaw; Mrs. T. C. Finn, Bay City; Mrs. S. N. Insley, Detroit; Miss Florence Doty, Grand Rapids.

The bridge prize was won by Mrs. Axel Mickelson, Mrs. Esbern Olson and Miss L. Thomas tied for the golf prize, each lady taking a fourteen on four and five. Mrs. Olson won the cut.

TELLS OF TRIP TO ITALY

Mrs. Matilda Foley Bishop, who is on a trip to Italy for the purpose of study and recreation, has written a very interesting letter relating her impressions as they occur while on her travels. We are pleased to pass her story on to our readers feeling confident that they will find it very interesting. It reads as follows:

With the Azores behind, one can go about this Italian boat and meet friends everywhere. If I walk a great deal I have a good appetite for breakfast—then too by walking I can find someone I know to eat with me—I dislike eating alone. I dared to attempt steak this morning, more to test out the idea than because of any felt need for it. I note the Italians enjoy it fairly regularly. For my part I enjoy the very hard rolls, coffee and oranges most of all and cannot say I miss the cereals in the least. So far as I know Italians never use them.

Despite my friend's dire predictions I am still convinced that I made a happy choice in introducing myself to Italy by taking an Italian liner. It is very, very clean—the food is excellent and well served. No one would need to travel more comfortably than I am as a second class passenger on the "Augustus," a 33,000 ton, the largest motorship of the Navigazione Generale Italiana fleet giving de-luxe express service between New York, Naples and Genoa.

The library on board is well stocked with the best works in English, Italian, French and Spanish as well as the best American magazines, so if gazing at the water tires, you may refresh yourself in other ways—then too, there is the daily paper, the "Corriere del Mare," printed on board. Thru radio reports we have the latest and most important items of the day. As a matter of fact I read very little—I study some, of course—mostly it is far more interesting to talk to people. I find very little Italian grammar is needed to span the distance between yourself and these frank and kind and friendly people. Now and then I study on deck—my Italian grammar proves a regular passport. Someone beside me observes it, my struggle with any difficulties are over. I have a tutor, eager and patient with my linguistic attempts. And how could learning take place under happier circumstances? I wish to learn—my teachers vary from day to day in culture, wealth and station—and sex, if you will, all immensely pleased at any small progress I make. Most of them surprised that an American would care to appreciate their language. As I have always contended, and still do—international relationships will really mean something when more people take a keen interest in the history of other nations and needless to say, that involves a greater interest in foreign languages on the part of American people—particularly, those who profess to educate.

Will you join me at dinner and meet my friends there? I present the ancient Dr. Zordan, a German doctor of philosophy and medicine, has lectured at Harvard University, Michigan, Budapest, Berlin, has served as secretary of various commissions for the former Kaiser. Since the war has served his government to regain peaceful relationships, as a consular to visit Newton D. Baker and others of the War Dept., on various investigations for the negotiation of peace. Friendly old fellow—knows a dozen languages—he is our dictionary—Britannica, etc., etc.—whenever any question comes up in table discussion. He is the father at the table and takes his responsibility fairly seriously—having crossed the Atlantic twenty-seven times. All of us (Continued on last page)

73 ATTEND CHEST CLINIC HERE

A total of 73 Crawford county residents were examined at the free chest clinic conducted by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association at Grayling on August 6, 7 and 8. The clinic, at which Roscommon and Otsego county residents also were examined, was financed by a $300 appropriation of the County Board of Supervisors and by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association through its annual sale of Christmas seals. Because of the county appropriation, residents of this county were examined on all three days of the clinic.

Thirteen active cases of tuberculosis among the Crawford county residents were found by Dr. E. R. Van der Slie and Dr. J. W. Toan, the examining physicians. Four cases were diagnosed as apparently inactive, 20 patients were placed under observation, and 35 were found non-tuberculous. Eight patients were given X-ray examinations at their own expense.

Hostesses assisting the clinic physicians and Mrs. Ethel Langenberg, association nurse, were Mrs. J. W. Greenwood, Mrs. Menno Corwin and Mrs. Erna Wheeler, Couzens Fund nurse.

A PRETTY GARDEN

There are many pretty gardens in town, but we doubt if there is any more beautiful than that of Mrs. George Burke on Chestnut street. This is at their new home which was completed last year and this is the first year for their garden.

A hedge on one side of honeysuckle and on the other of barberry with the rear of hollyhocks and golden glow surrounds the garden and well kept lawn. In one corner rises supreme the rock garden with almost every conceivable flower, including pansies, achilla, daisies, violets, forget-me-nots, delphinium and many others, all in bloom. The rock garden makes a beautiful background for the artificial pool in which are three blooming waterlilies, one yellow, one pink and one white. Around the pool are dwarf iris, creeping sweet peas and other plants that grow near the water. Stepping stones lead from the rear of the house to the pool and wind back again and in the center of this is the rose garden all abloom with various kinds of roses. A Prunus tree and three tamarack trees find conspicuous places near the rock garden. Close to the house are clumps of white and yellow spirea, wizzalia rose and snowberry bushes, hydrangea and iris.

With a pretty pergola that next year will be adorned with climbing roses, a lattice, a bird bath, four bird houses—a martin, a bluebird, a wren and a robin, and with birds, butterflies and bees fitting here and there, this is a spot of rare beauty and really almost indescribable. Every one is said to have a hobby and flowers and birds seem to be Mrs. Burke's hobby, and we'll say it's one real happy way to spend one's life. Mrs. Burke leaves the credit of the careful planning and laying out of the garden to Ernest Borchers and Fred Niederer, owners of the Grayling Greenhouses, who are proficient gardeners.

BACK TO SCHOOL

The fat ones, and the lean ones, the first grader, and eighth grader, and the high school senior, the fast learners and those who do not learn so fast—soon the entire varied group of school children will be gathered for the first class of the new school year. With them will be borne the hopes of fathers and mothers, solicitors for the welfare of their youngsters, and most anxious that they make good showings in their class work.

Nevertheless it can be predicted that a certain number of children will not do well in school, much as their parents may worry and their teachers give them special attention. Some will just barely slip by with a passing grade; others failing, will be required to repeat the class another year. At one time these lagging students were disregarded with the thought that they were born slow-minded, and that nothing could be done about it. More lately expert classroom studies have shown that many cases of poor scholarship are due solely to the presence in the child of handicapping physical defects. For example, a study made in Cass Technical High School, Detroit, has demonstrated the fact that seventy per cent of the academic failures there were due to correctible defects.

In the light of this knowledge, there should be no doubts about the course to be followed by parents who want to give their children a fair chance in school. Defects such as diseased tonsils or adenoids, abscessed teeth, and imperfect vision should be corrected immediately, while sufficient time remains before the opening of school. Parents of children in the kindergarten and first grade are advised by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association to be particularly on the lookout for these physical troubles, since they are most common among the children just entering school. A physical inspection by a doctor is the most certain method of uncovering these bodily imperfections. Not only is such an inspection likely to help smooth the child's path through school, but early correction of the defects it may reveal will eliminate the danger later in life of serious ailments in the development of which these very defects, insignificant as they seem, are important factors.

ABUSING OUR HOSPITALITY

Did you read the list of names of the suspects already rounded up by Detroit police in the Jerry Buckley murder mystery? If you did you failed to find a single name that would lead you to believe its owner had been born in this country. The good old Yankee tinge of another day is missing. Every name smacked of something foreign to these shores, foreign to our social structure, foreign to all of the things we like to class as being American.

Remember the days when we used to pride ourselves on the liberality of Uncle Sam? What a lot of satisfaction we got out of picturing him as a great, big, good-hearted individual with a heart warming to all mankind. How we boasted that here was a cradle big enough to rock away the troubles of all the universe.

We don't do that any more. We found out that our hospitality was being abused; discovered that those who had every reason to fall down and bless this sanctuary of freedom were plotting crimes against the land that was giving them protection against an old world oligarchy. It has been a shock to good nature, but happily we have discovered it in time to prevent any more imposition in the future.

In spite of the loopholes in our deportation laws let us insist on getting rid of every alien breaking a single law. Let's cut away the red tape and see that they are shoved off these shores in a hurry. Let's look upon those trying to stay their departure as an enemy to this country. We don't want any interference in this job of getting rid of that kind of cattle.

It is time we looked ourselves squarely in the face. We have been altogether too tolerant in the past. We have been passing by on the other side of the street until anarchy is beginning to raise its slimy head. When we slap these frothy-mouthed Communists and alien racketeers to earth and kick them out we will find the beginning of a new respect for the law—all laws.

The sale of cigarettes has fallen off during the past few months. Does this mean that a lot of people are going to get fat?

With the addition of new sun porches, new roofs, repainting residences and beautifying lawns and gardens, many pieces of property in Grayling are being made very attractive. P. L. Brown some time ago added a new sun parlor to his home and has it all nicely screened in; Mrs. Hansine Hanson had a nice new sun porch built at the rear of her home and just recently had a new roof added; Alonzo Colleen, who recently purchased the Balhof property on Michigan Avenue is having a new sun parlor built on his residence. New roofs were added to the Mrs. Victor Selling home, Joseph McLeod, Sigwald Hanson and Mrs. Retta Stoner homes recently and the Oscar Hanson and H. A. Bauman homes are both being nicely repainted. Neils Corwin's home with a new roof and a coat of white paint and the Mrs. William Foley home, with a fresh coat of paint, both look fine. There are probably many more, but these are the ones we have noticed in trips about town.

There were two other donations which will be used as prizes next year. They are a compact given by Mac & Uldley and a necklace given by Carl Peterson.

The crab race and the match race gave a lot of fun to the audience as a number of boys were unable to light their matches after their swim to the raft and so were unable to finish.

Paul Welsh, the local examiner, was well pleased with the showing of the boys and hopes that this interest will keep up. He says that in another year we should have enough seniors and examiners to take care of the work of teaching safety methods in swimming and boating, artificial resuscitation at all the various beaches around Grayling.

So far this year quite a number of youngsters have been taught to swim and a goodly number received advanced instruction by Dr. R. A. Phillips during the recent meet.

Dr. Phillips also re-examined F. R. Welsh and Joe Kessler for examiners and Harold Edwards for Senior, and partly examined Rudy Harrison for Senior Life Saving. It is understood that he will complete his tests with one or both of the local examiners in the near future.

We are also pleased to note that we have several Junior Life Savers here now including: Ben Jerome, Jr., Arnold Jerome, Betty Jane Welsh, Marjorie Gail Welsh. We hope next year will show many more.

Wednesday evening Dr. Phillips gave a short talk and demonstration on artificial respiration which is called the prone method of resuscitation for the benefit of quite a large audience. This was preceded by a band concert. Both were greatly appreciated.

Senior Life Saving Corps members can give tests in swimming and awards of buttons from the Red Cross for beginners, Junior and Senior Life Saving Corps.

Let's have a swimming instructor at the Lake next year for at least one or two days a week. The cost is very small in comparison to what it will mean to the boys and girls, and adults, too. Instruction, time and energy spent in this way is of the worthwhile and positive kind. It's a wise use of our leisure.

The American of 1930

Is this an accurate picture of the American of 1930? We quote a leading editorial appearing this week in a national weekly:

"He is no reader. The average American buys only two books a year; reads only seven. Riding a dweller paws his way through the newspapers, but it is hard to believe that he brings any coherent world-view from that occupation. Yet he is constantly showing himself to be a victim of almost any mass suggestion. He knows that Chesterfields satisfy, and buys accordingly. He knows that socialists are reds and shuns them. He sends a telegram on Mothers' Day. On his wedding anniversary he says it with flowers. Prohibition, he is sure, is a failure; people drink more than they ever did. Andrew Mellon is the greatest secretary of the treasury since Hamilton. He can hum the Maine state song. He has stopped wearing bow ties. He will doff his straw hat on September 15th."

Is this a picture of the people to whom the churches are trying to minister? If so,—THE MINISTRY—WHAT A TASK!

ENTERTAINS A BLUE HERON

A great Blue Heron may be a beautiful bird, but he is a too tenacious and affectionate pet. In fact, he considers a favor a privilege and an invitation to lunch, an indication of a permanent boarding house.

Joseph E. Fischer, state trapper at Bergland, knows more about the propensities and affections of pet Blue Herons than probably anyone else in Michigan, but he got his experience unwillingly.

A storm left a Heron stranded near Bergland. Fischer became friendly and fed the bird, grasshoppers, frogs and fish to tide him over his temporary difficulties. The Heron was pleased. No long waits now with doubtful results when he was hungry. Food was magically placed almost in his mouth.

Fischer tried to abandon the bird, but the Heron refused to be abandoned.

ed. Wherever Fischer went the bird followed like Mary's lamb. Fischer tried to escape in his automobile, but when he stopped, believing the Heron outdistanced, the great bird was on the running-board.

Fischer has given up in disgust and the Heron now hovers near the Fischer home, rarely going more than a mile away. The bird kills snakes, but won't eat them, Fischer says. He is fastidious. Given a frog he will shake it, then rinse it off in the water before swallowing it. He considers clams a delicacy.

A Washington woman the other day, dislocated her jawbone by giving vent to an ex-ax-wide yawn. Wonder if she was reading the Congressional Record?

You can't buy lottery tickets any more but you can still go to market and purchase castanets.

Even in the plastic surgery that have taken place within the last two years there is more than ever the necessity for a plastic surgeon. It is to be seen that plastic surgery is not forgotten, that the rights and privileges of the individual and the customer they have are not well provided for as in the smaller business units.

It is gratifying to note that our corporations are giving more and more concern to the welfare of their workers. Numerous benefit organizations have been formed, opportunities offered for advancement of education and position, hospital service established and insurance and retirement pensions provided.

This general humanitarian movement is really the outgrowth of analysis, which has disclosed the need of improving the well-being of our individual workers, realizing at the same time that our institutions will benefit.

PREPAREDNESS IN BUSINESS

By R. S. HECHT.

American Bankers Association. My observations for many years, both as an employee and as an executive, have convinced me that the reason some men and women go ahead and others do not is that some keep themselves constantly prepared to accept and fulfill larger duties and responsibilities as they arise, and some do not.

Grant, as we must, that there is a certain element of luck in the conditions under which opportunity for promotion comes to different men and women, we nevertheless must also see that it is each individual's own state of preparedness which determines his ability to seize opportunity if and when it comes, and having seized it, to succeed in meeting the greater demands which it inevitably places upon him.

Real advancement never means going ahead to easier tasks, but always to harder ones. Opportunity for advancement is worthless unless in accepting it you are able to carry with you the abilities and qualifications that prepare you to meet the heavier exactions that are an inherent part of opportunity.

It is far better to go into action in the field of enlarged responsibility prepared and qualified, rather than that you and the institution you work for shall be exposed to the hazard of your having to build up to new responsibilities after having assumed them.

The new spirit of all business seeks to prepare its people in advance through education for the higher duties it holds in store for them.

Bank Bandits Active

The greatest number of bandit raids on American banking ever recorded in the figures of the protective department of the American Bankers Association were reported during the six months ending last February. Band members of the association reported for investigation 311 burglary cases, 107 holdups, robberies, 12 kidnappings, 5 mail thefts and 3 mortgage violations while non-member banks, numbering less than half the total included in the association, reported 36 holdup robberies and 9 burglaries, 200 members being burglarized, or held up once, for every 50 banks, as compared with once for every 164 member banks. The association detective agents caused the arrest of 143 of the 326 bank criminals apprehended during the period covered.

The association's report on these conditions urges support of the movement to provide city police departments with radio-equipped cruising automobiles which have proved particularly effective in Cleveland and Detroit in the broadcasting of alarms and the clearing in on criminals immediately after or even in the midst of the perpetration of crimes. Last year the average time elapsed between the receipt of police calls by these cars and the arrival of police at the scene of the crime was reduced from 10 to 5 minutes.

TROUT MIGRATE FROM WISCONSIN TO MICH.

Within seven days a 14 inch rainbow trout was caught twice, once at Port Washington, Wisconsin, and the second time near Grand Haven, Michigan.

If the fish traveled a straight course across Lake Michigan, he would have gone 87 miles during the week or an average of 12 miles a day. If he chose to follow the shore line around the southern end of the lake, he would have gone a minimum of 200 miles, or 27 miles a day.

July 14, Smith Brothers, Port Washington Commercial fishermen, tagged a 14 inch rainbow trout (they are called steelheads on the Great Lakes). The same fish was caught by Smith and Jobin in a pound net five miles north of Grand Haven Harbor, July 21.

The trout taken near Grand Haven is the third example reported this year of migration across Lake Michigan. Early last spring two trout tagged by Smith Brothers at Port Washington were captured during the upstream-taking operations on the Milwaukee River.

At least three of the rainbow trout bandied and tagged during Michigan upstream-taking activities in the Milwaukee River have been captured at Wisconsin ports.

The fact that rainbow trout freshly from the lake is being used as an appetizer for the children's fish legislation in the two states.

NORWEGIAN KING VISITS AMERICAN WARSHIP

For the first time since 1923, when King Christian X of Denmark inspected the U. S. S. Arkansas in Copenhagen, a ruling European monarch was received on board this ship in July, 1930, according to the Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit. It was King Haakon VII, younger brother of Christian of Denmark and the head of the government of Norway. He was a Danish prince, second son of Frederick VIII of Denmark. King Haakon was chosen by the Norwegians to be their king on November 18, 1896 and he ascended the throne June 22, 1906. As Prince Charles of Denmark he held a commission in the navy.

BETTER DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN

Everybody seems agreed that better times are on the way—the bottom of the depression has been reached—by the end of the year the national march towards prosperity will be uninterrupted.

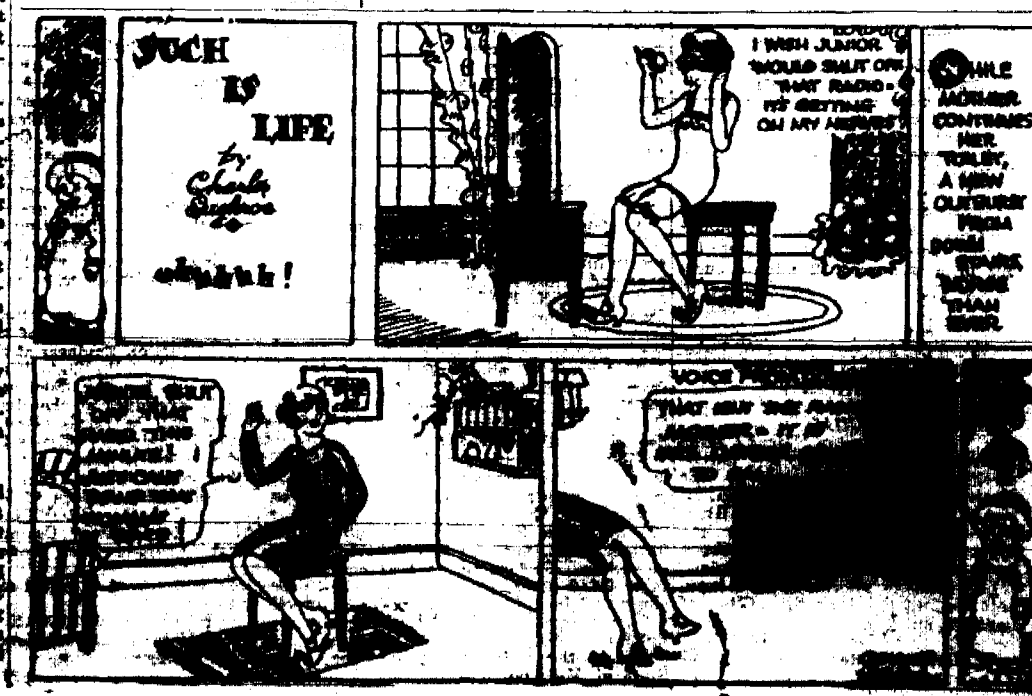

We believe that is so. In these days we chafe under financial or industrial restraint that slows down our progress. We are happiest when all around is the hum of industry—the most thrilling music in all the world.

Perhaps most of our troubles have been mental, but the miasma is lifting—the future looks bright.

HELP PREVENT FIRE

If ever there was a time when the utmost caution should be observed against the careless setting of fires that time is right now. The long drought in certain sections of the state, coupled with the fact that from now until late October is the dangerous season of the year, makes doubly necessary the carefulness on the part of those who journey to the spots where forest fires are likely to occur.

Keep Michigan green and you will keep it growing. Fires set back for years the interest others will have in coming here to view our growing forests, to linger by the side of stream and lake, to spend endless days of recreation in this garden spot of the world.

Keep Michigan beautiful by keeping it free from fire. Everybody can help.

PONTIAC MAN ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT KONJOLA

"I Lost Sixty Pounds And Was In A Pitiable Condition Before Taking New Medicine," He Says.

MR. PUGH C. SMITH

"My height is six feet two inches and I should weigh approximately 200 pounds," said Mr. Pugh C. Smith, 383 North Saginaw Street, Pontiac. "In the latter part of 1929, due to long working hours in the shop, improper food and lack of sleep, I gradually lost more than sixty pounds. I was in a pitiable condition and such food as I ate did not digest properly. This was due, no doubt, to my run-down condition. At the time, Konjola was recommended. I was in a state of mind bordering on melancholy.

"After taking this miracle medicine for about six months my friends did not recognize me. I had gained back all my lost weight. I am now a picture of health. When I started taking Konjola I weighed 140 pounds; I now weigh 204. I have not taken Konjola for eight months and I still feel great. Every word of this statement is true and I can support the facts by many witnesses who have known me for years."

"What could be added to such a sincere statement? Is it not logical to believe that Konjola can do as much for you—for everyone?"

Konjola is sold in Grayling, Michigan at the Mac & Gidley drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Ever since the robbery state police have been in that vicinity and a careful search carried on, but the thugs had been hiding in a thick swamp and could not be located. The second member of the gang has not yet been apprehended.

find in him a mine of helpful information. Then there is Signor Reggiori, an Italian engineer, tall, slender, handsome, shy—goes to visit his mother in Milano. Very nervous—walks miles and miles each day. I walk with him at times. One day I decided to stick it out until he was tired—no use—he was still going fine after I'd dropped by the wayside—to rest my weary bones for an hour. Discouraged with the view I had the steward change the position of my deck chair—I came on this trip to rest, not to consider perpetual motion. Then there are two Italian girls at my table, teachers—fine, intelligent, very young, a bit fearful of the complexities of travel, American-born, going to visit relatives. The frail one Miss Fornaci, seems to worry the good Dr. Zordan. He constantly tells her she must eat more, sleep more, etc. Lastly, we have at our table Mr. Parkhill, an English professor of Beirut College in the Far East. He entertains us with tales of Egyptian and Arabian customs, has written some—drinks most of the red wine which is always on the table (wine is always on the table on an Italian boat—part of it—as the linen or silver)—and is a generally agreeable fellow. Again, he too, speaks many languages and did study medicine, so on the whole, table conversation is varied enough to suit anyone. Time passes easily—cool nights, I sleep ten hours—on hot nights no one sleeps, electric fans, or no, "third" or "first"—"inside" or "outside." At no time unbearable the many fuss about it. I breakfast at the "second sitting" which is at 8:30 to 9:30—a pleasant time to stir about if one is not ambitious—for one who is—you have had time to walk about and acquire an appetite. Then I walk and talk—perhaps with Professore Alesi, music master of Palermo. He tells me of his two beautiful wives who died each with the same malady—three years after marriage. I was touched by this tale of tragedy as was each of the young teachers at my table. I discovered he had confided as much to them—and what man does not confide in next woman he meets? So much impressed were we by this man's trials with wives and children that we were about to cast lots at our table to decide on "wife number three." We put the matter before Dr. Zordan. He dismissed it at once by saying he thought the Professor's case was one the Coroner should consider—"certainly so, if wife No. 3 should suddenly die three years after marriage." This made us pause for reflection. We listened to his Chopin—exquisitely played—at a respectful distance from then on. Such kind eyes too! But then, two wives did die. I often go over on the internet late third decks with Signor Giovanni Tempra of Milano and New York. One can see the prow of the "Augustus" here best of all—and see it out its swift way toward Napoli. Everyone seems to like this handsome, impatient lad, who in turn seems to like every one and everything about him. He goes to see his mother after an absence of 14 years—is trying hard to get on—he fears his mother will not think him rugged enough—radical in a way—does not understand why I do not go third class for I am democratic—why I cannot speak seven or seventeen languages (he can) especially since I am in the teaching profession—why all Americans expect teachers to act like nuns—why military training is not best for every

IPS-WISE TO CHOOSE A SIX

Announcing a new production record2,000,000 Chevrolet Sixes now on the road

Since January, 1929, Chevrolet has produced and sold over 2,000,000 six-cylinder automobiles—nearly five times as many as any other manufacturer has ever built in an equal length of time.

These 2,000,000 buyers have chosen Chevrolet because it offers many desirable qualities not obtainable in any other car so low in price—

—the smoothness, silence and flexibility of a modern six-cylinder engine—the comfort and roadability of a modern, full-length chassis—and the style, safety and distinction of bodies by Fisher.

Yet, despite these fine car advantages, the Chevrolet Six is unusually economical. Its gas, oil, tire and upkeep economy is unsurpassed. And

The Azores thrilled, not because they are a beautiful sight, not because of their historical significance. They are too far from the ship lane to appreciate from the standpoint of beauty—so I saw no palms—no cozy villages. From the ship they appear as huge ash heaps—hardened and cracked in many places. It is hard to believe that a very respectable airport lies over there, to say nothing of luxuriant vegetation. Dry and forbidding as they appear—land does hold your interest. It is good to see. Something over a hundred years ago today the poet Shelley's body was found washed upon the shore of Viareggio, Italy. The body was partly consumed and badly decomposed. It was covered with quicklime, in compliance with public health regulations and four weeks later was disinterred and burnt. So calm today—the sea is beautiful—so it should have been for the ill-fated "Ariel." It comes to me that in November after his death Shelley's ashes were interred in the Protestant cemetery at Rome. I mean to go there.

Everyone on deck early today to see outlined in the distance the coast of Spain. Dinner comes a bit early for some passengers leave at Gibraltar for Spain.

On deck again: If I could only put in your eyes the vision that is in mine! On the north is Spain with its sloping light brown and dull greenish colored hills; across the marvelous blue azure waters to the south is Morocco, with higher and more interesting, rugged outlines to the mountains. To the west we come in from the Atlantic, where boats, large and small, are silhouetted against a light sky. White gulls flash their dark-tipped wings now over the wonderful blue of the sea, and then an instant later soar into the brightness of the heavens.

Toward the East, the Strait widens, and now Morocco, the land of the Rif, draws back, receding from the opposite shore of Spain. What a dream of charms and beauty! As we NEARBY ON, and our eyes again seek the Spanish hills, we discover the location of Algiers, that in Arabic Moroccan, means "City of Flowers." And now, Oh! now looms up the great tree-covered rock of Gibraltar!

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides.

"Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say."

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it." Mrs. S. A. Solomon, New Bern, N. C., Jan. 1930.
